SOLDIER CITY.

Further Account of the Fearful Work of the Cyclone—Other Storm Notes.

ATMOS. Kan., July 13.—During the storm which prevailed throughout northwest Kansas the town of Soldier City was visited by three successive blasts of wind of such terrific violence as to wreck the greatest part of the town, and cause great damage and loss of life. The storm was seen approaching from the north but no alarm was felt until the clouds seemed to grow denser and moved rapidly as they neared the town. From the best information obtainable the wind did not assume the form of a cyclone, but was rather a succession of furious straight blasts which swept away everything in their path. It was about half-past 10 when the tornado struck the town, a house in the outskirts being the first to be struck, and in a few minutes thereafter the entire business block on the east side of the main street, comprising fifteen substantial frame buildings, was totally demolished. Flying lumber and fragments of all kinds filled the air. The wild wind whistled and howled as it sped away, and behind it could be heard the wailing of the wind, and the dying and the cries of the frantic citizens. The night was intensely dark, and torrents of rain deluged the ill-fated town. A large crowd soon gathered and systematic search was begun among the ruins with lanterns. The entire business portion of the thriving little town lay a heap of shattered and shapeless timbers, from under which were taken the bodies of four victims—Mrs. Chambers, Mrs. Walters, Mrs. Owen and her infant, 8 months old. About fifteen persons are also reported wounded, but no list has been furnished. Two clerks in Williamson's store have not been seen since the storm, and it is feared they were killed, as they were in the habit of sleeping in the store. The loss of property is estimated at from $25,000 to $40,000. The Kansas Central train narrowly escaped being demolished. Three cars were blown from the track, but the wreck was soon cleared and trains were now running as scheduled. Soldier City was a flourishing little town, and this terrible calamity has aroused the sympathy of all the inhabitants in the vicinity, who are doing all in their power to aid the sufferers.

A NEBRASKA DIAST.

OMAHA, Neb., July 13.—A severe storm struck the central part of Hamilton county last night, doing great damage to crops and buildings, and killing some stock. The wind was very violent, and at the town of Aurora the Commercial hotel was badly wrecked. Several buildings were lifted off their foundations and smashed. The Congregational church was heavily damaged. Barns and sheds were leveled to the ground. Chimneys were blown off and numerous dwellings wrecked. Bright cars were blown off from one track to another, some of them going off the track entirely. Mr. Berry's house was entirely blown to pieces and scattered in every direction, together with the household furniture. Every member of the family was more or less hurt.

WIND AND RAIN.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 13.—A terrific wind and rain storm prevailed here that did damage to property to the amount of $10,000, but so far as is known only one person, Mr. Horton, was hurt, and she not fatally. The damage done was principally to glass fronts that were blown in, and to factories, whose smokestacks and sheds were blown down. The new steel rolling-mill was partially demolished, the loss being probably $20,000, and the bridge over White river was unroofed. In the yards of the Indiana, Bloomington & Western railway ten freight cars were blown from the track and turned over. Hundreds of shade trees were torn up by the roots and many buildings were caved in by those. The storm was accompanied by a remarkable and threatening electrical display, and for a time the most serious consequences were apprehended. The clouds which brought the storm were of a peculiar greenish color, and their movements were so rapid that nothing short of a terrific cyclone was expected. From the character of the storm it was supposed that the city must have been on the edge of it, and possibly much greater damage has been done elsewhere throughout the state.

TEXAS COLORED MEN.

Thanks Voted to a Connecticut Man—An Address to the People.

AUSTIN, Tex., July 13.—The colored convention voted a resolution of thanks to Mr. Slater, of Connecticut, for his magnificent gift to the colored people of the south. Resolutions that the legislature be asked to appropriate $100,000 additional to the colored normal school and establish a mechanical school for colored youths were adopted. An address to the people was prepared and will be issued in a few days. It says that the feeling of the white people against the colored people has been continually increased in friendliness toward the colored people, even to a surprising degree, as is evidenced by the firmness of the laws enacted. It alludes to occasional outrages by individuals but says the mass of whites are not to blame. It condemns the moving of colored folks to other states, and from one county to another in the state, and advises that colored men secure small farms and learn their children the different trades. It recommends that all preachers and school teachers known to be immoral and incompetent be removed immediately. It insists that all railroads charging their first-class fare should furnish first-class coaches, separate, if desired, from the whites. A resolution commending the Republican party was almost unanimously passed.

THE PATRIARCHAL CIRCLE.

Getting to Work on the Ritual—A Big Parade.

CHICAGO, July 13.—The second day of the annual session of the Supreme body of the Patriarchal circle was occupied by the discussion of the proposed change of ritual. It has been determined to make certain important alterations in this matter. The changes are proposed to meet the objections of the Sovereign Grand lodge of Odd Fellows, which does not like the adoption of emblems of their body by an organization which it says is illegitimate. In the afternoon there was a procession and parade, which was a fine affair, in which it is estimated that there were 1,500 members in line.

Rights of Civil Service Commissioners.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.—Postmaster General Gresham has decided that the civil service commission has a right to communicate directly with local examining boards. He informs the Baltimore postmaster (Adreon), who complained that such action was contrary to official etiquette, that the local examiners are to be considered as far as their civil service duties are concerned. About three hundred applications for departmental positions have been placed on file by the civil service commission. These files by the civil service commission. These files by the civil service commission.

How About the Doses.

Many people before purchasing a medicine naturally inquire the size of the dose and the strength of it. In using Burdock Blood Bitters a teaspoonful for the little ones and two teaspoonfuls for grown folks are all that is necessary at one time. This magnificent medicine is not only economical but very pleasant to taste.

INDIANAPOLIS.

John C. New Says the Republican National Convention Should be Held in Indianapolis.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Assistant secretary of the treasury, John C. New, who is a member of the Republican national committee from Indiana, has been interviewed in regard to the place where the next Republican convention will be held. Mr. New expresses the opinion that Indianapolis will undoubtedly be the city selected. In the history of the party Chicago has had the convention three times; Baltimore, Cincinnati and Philadelphia each once. There is no inducement offered for selecting New York, a city that does not care for a national convention, because its coming and going is of no financial importance. Senators, he says, would probably offer sufficient accommodations, but it has not been the custom to hold a great convention at a watering-place. Indianapolis, Mr. New says, is not only a central point, but it has sufficient hotel capacity. For a place of meeting a building of sufficient size could be erected in which to hold the convention. As a matter of fact the annual committee, Mr. New says, he shall vote against holding the convention in any building holding over 4,000 people. He says he believes that is the sentiment of a majority, if not of all, of the members of the committee. Experience at Chicago in 1880 was sufficient to warn the party never to hold another national convention in a barn. Seats must be provided in the next convention for over 10,000 delegates, and for 2,000 or 3,000 spectators. It ought to be ample. He says Indianapolis is a city noted for its hospitality, and the residences of the Republicans there will be open to receive strangers. He does not know why it should not be plainly stated: Indiana will not present a Republican candidate for the presidency. Ohio may and probably will. On the other hand, Mr. New says we believe that Joe McDonald will be the Democratic candidate, and Indiana has got to have something to counteract the influence of his popularity and candidacy if she is to give her electoral vote for the Republican nominee. He says Chicago is out of the question as a place to hold the next national convention; that Cincinnati is not a desirable place in the summer time, and there is no occasion of coming east. Indianapolis is a central, hospitable and abundantly able to take care of the multitude that may gather in her limits.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Frank Work offers to enter his team in a race against the teams of W. H. Vanderbilt and Mr. Rockefeller for a purse of $5,000, to be given by the members of the Gentlemen's Driving association, the winner of the race to give the purse to some charity.

ARCHERY.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, July 13.—The national tournament closed and a large number of minor prizes were distributed. The double Columbia round was won by Mrs. M. C. Howell, of Tusculum, Ohio; score, 946. The double American round was won by Col. Robert Williams, Jr., of Eaton, Ohio; score, 1,050. Henry C. Carver, of Chicago, was elected president for the ensuing year. The next tournament will be held in Chicago, July, 1884.

THE AMERICAN RIFELMAN.

LONDON, Eng., July 13.—The American team practiced at the 500, 900 and 1,000 yards ranges but at Wimbledon. The weather was bad, and the scores were considered first-class, and the record is highly spoken of.

DENVER ENCAMPMENT G. A. R.

Railway Rates From Chicago—A Revised Estimate.

CHICAGO, July 13.—It is contemplated to place on sale immediately tickets to Denver for the encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. The expected war in rates has been suddenly stopped by the announcement from the Colorado lines that the roads east of the Missouri river can make any rate they please to that point, but under no consideration will they deviate from the rate of $25 from the river to Denver. Inasmuch as this only leaves a round-trip rate of $1.80 from Chicago to Omaha. It is not thought possible that any lower rate will be offered. During the past two weeks the passenger departments of the various west-bound lines have been very active in their efforts to secure the bulk of the travel, but have been compelled to offer other inducements than a further reduction in rates. When the encampment was first spoken of it was said the attendance would reach thirty thousand. Passenger agents have recently concluded that their estimate was a little too high, and are now basing their calculations on hauling less than ten thousand. The trains will start from Chicago July 21.

Handicaps and the Presidency.

THEIR HONORS, July 13.—The Express publishes a statement from Senator Voorhees regarding the interview at Omaha with Governor Hendricks, which says that Voorhees had no authority to make the rate recently that he (Hendricks) was not a candidate for president. The senator says he has never stated anything by authority from Governor Hendricks in regard to his future purposes, and does not now, but he is personally of the opinion that the governor is not a candidate for the presidency or any other office. He knows this from the governor himself.

E. H. Rollins, of New Hampshire, asked the Republican candidates to withdraw from the party. No answer was received. Rollins gained fourteen votes on the first ballot, and Secretary Chandler had nine. The former took the field, and the latter rose to follow.

"CALICO CHARLEY."

The Ohio Political Outlook as Viewed by Governor Foster—Hutton and Kinne on Iowa.

KANSAS CITY, July 13.—"Calico Charley" Foster, governor of Ohio, Hon. Amos Townsend, ex-congressman from Ohio, Warren Miller, senator from New York, and Speaker Keifer, of the national house, have been in the city. The gentlemen named are the head and front of a powerful syndicate which has purchased in the neighborhood of eight thousand acres of coal land in Butler county, Missouri, which is in the market at present, or a large part of it is. A new town has been laid out at a premium. Gov. Foster seems to be the spokesman of the party, at least so far as politics are concerned, and when asked by a correspondent as to what he thought of Ohio politics, "Ohio never was Democratic when a full vote was polled, and we will poll a full vote this fall."

"What will be the Republican majority?" "That is a hard question to answer. There are about 80,000 voters in the state and a majority of 20,000 or 25,000 out of that number can easily be obtained."

"What can you say of Foraker's popularity?" "Foraker is about 37 years old. He entered the army at 16 and served through the war, coming out with the rank of captain. He began his studies after the war, and at the age of 32 was elected judge of the superior court. When he resigned, a petition was sent to me, signed by eminent men, requesting me not to accept his resignation, but Foraker insisted on my doing so. He has always been looked upon as a close and hard student and a brilliant judge. He is personally very popular, his character being without a blemish."

"But has he any political record?" "He has not much of a record, but has done considerable work for the party heretofore." "Is he a popular man with his party?" "He is an old Republican, and was for a long time intimately associated with Tillden in the railroad-wrecking business. When Tillden was nominated in 1878, Foraker left the Republican party, and has since been affiliated with the Democrats. He now wants to be president very much, and is generally looked upon as Tillden's protégé. Many of his own party repudiate him and will not vote for him at all."

"What are the chief issues between the parties in Ohio?" "The tariff nationally and the temperance question locally."

"What is the attitude of the Republican party on the temperance question?" "We are favoring a high tax. According to the constitution of the state, saloons can not be licensed, but they can be taxed heavily. The difference between a license and a high tax is simply this: A license permits you to carry on a business, while a tax means pay for carrying it on. In addition to a high tax, which we favor, we are going to submit a prohibition amendment to the public. The prohibitionists throughout the state favor the amendment, and will probably throw their influence largely with our party."

"Is the prohibition party, as a political organization, strong enough to hold the balance of power?" "If for the party polls only about fifty thousand votes."

"How does the Republican party stand on the tariff question?" "Almost solid for a protective tariff, although there are one or two states that favor it to a less extent than others."

Of Speaker Keifer, who had a few minutes previous entered, the reporter asked what influence Frank Hurd had as a free-trader.

"Hurd has considerable influence with Ohio congressmen," was the reply, "and is a fearless exponent of free-trade doctrine. He has several supporters, as, for instance, Cox in the east and Carlisle in the south."

TWO OPINIONS ON IOWA.

CHICAGO, July 13.—The Times has the following interviews upon the situation in Iowa: Hon. L. G. Kinne, Democratic candidate for governor of Iowa, is at the Palmer house. To a reporter Mr. Kinne expressed a reasonable degree of confidence of success. "It appears somewhat presumptuous," said he, "to claim Iowa, the old Republican stronghold, for Democracy, but there is an immeasurably better prospect for Democratic success there than ever before. Our opposition is very seriously divided, and will not work with the harmony that is essential to success. A large percentage of the Republicans are sore over the ultra-Prohibition platform, and the prohibitionist is a first-rate man, the prohibitionists, to a greater or less extent, are a little afraid to trust him. They did not get as much as they wanted in the convention, being compelled to rest contented with the supreme judiciary, while the Republicans selected the governor. The Greenbackers, under Gen. Weaver, have declared for prohibition, and they will catch a large share of the ultra-Prohibition element, who are willing to close their eyes to the Greenback doctrine if they can have the unqualified prohibition doctrine. The Democrats, on the other hand, are united and harmonious. Taking all the circumstances into consideration, I feel that the percentage of success is considerably in our favor."

Assistant Postmaster General Frank Hutton was in the city on a flying visit. Regarding the prospects of the Republicans in Iowa he said: "The party will lose votes by the prohibition policy. There is no doubt, however, that we will carry the state, but it will be by a reduced majority."

"Will the dissatisfaction extend into the presidential campaign?" "Oh, no. Iowa will be Republican by a vast majority when it comes to a national election. The Republicans all over the country will fall into line, as they always do in presidential years, and I have no fear of the result."

THE YOUNG WOMAN TERRIBLE. Armed with a Revolver She Looks for a Government Clerk.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.—Miss Mamie Roe, living on Thirtieth and I streets, caused great commotion in the upper corridors of the war department. She wore a white belt, in which were displayed a large pistol and a bowie-knife. "I am looking for a clerk in this building," she said, "and if I find the villain I will kill him on sight." She showed determination, and was anxious to find the individual, whose name she would not divulge. After in hand by a state department clerk. He induced her to give up the knife and pistol and leave the building.

Miss Roe is quite a handsome blonde, of rather short stature, has a bright, flashing eye, and dresses very well. The navy clerks are all on the qui vive to find out the lamb selected for slaughter.

Cheese Fare Across the Atlantic. NEW YORK, July 13.—The steamship lines have commenced cutting rates of emigrant passage. The companies in the conference have reduced the rate to $21, and outside companies have put it down to $18.

Nature has made her laws with us, which we must obey or suffer the penalty. This penalty is often lung or throat trouble, which leads on to consumption. Every man believes consumption incurable.
